

Humane Society AC Shelter Outreach Program

Abandoned at an over-crowded shelter, then brought here to us.....

Each year, the Humane Society of Atlantic County reaches out to help other shelters that are over-crowded due to lack of community support and spay clinics.

These animals are brought to our shelter weekly from other shelters in New Jersey, North Carolina, and other states. Once here, the animals are bathed, examined by our veterinarians, tested for Heartworm and Lyme disease and temperament tested. From there, they are vaccinated, de-wormed, neutered, micro-chipped, and offered for adoption. Most of these animals are adopted into a family within the week, allowing space for the next group coming in. Thanks to the generous support of animal lovers like you, we can save these animals that would have been ethanized at their shelter due to the tragedy of pet overpopulation. Please Spay/Neuter your pets!

With your help, they all found families!

This year, our program goal is to accept 400 animals from over-crowded shelters!

Please help support this important program and save even more lives this year.
